WEBINAR 1:
Focus on Abstracting: Urinary/Bladder

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 24, 2021
2:00 PM – 3:00 PM ET

Using case scenarios, LaKeidru Blaylock, CTR, and Sherlonda Flem, CTR, will review the anatomy of the urinary/bladder systems and discuss surgical margins and difficult histologies. They will also review the Solid Tumor Rules for the site and address coding complications that may cause confusion when assigning stage.

Presenters: LaKeidru Blaylock, CTR, is Lead Cancer Registrar at the MD Anderson Cancer Center in Houston, TX. She has been a member of the San Jacinto College Cancer Data Management Advisory Board for the past five years. Sherlonda Flem, CTR has been with the MD Anderson Cancer Center for 18 years. She is currently the Lead Tumor Registrar. Flem attended Texas Southern University in Houston, where she earned a Bachelor of Science in Healthcare Administration.

WEBINAR 2:
Focus on Abstracting: Colon

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 31, 2021
2:00 PM – 3:00 PM ET

Heather Donohue, CTR, CCA, will review the anatomy of the colon and the regional lymph nodes, needed to accurately assign AJCC and SEER Summary Stage. She will review changes to the colon chapter in the AJCC 8th Edition, as well as an in-depth review of clinical and pathological classification and staging tables. The SSDI's and surgical codes will be reviewed, with particular attention to common errors made when abstracting and provide clarifications. Donohue will present case scenarios to illustrate the webinar content.

Presenter: Heather Donohue, CTR, CCA, is a data abstraction subject matter expert, ensuring data accuracy through quality control oversight and providing ongoing training to the data abstraction teams. Donohue's registry experience includes serving in oncology analytics, hospital and central registries, and CoC-accredited cancer programs.

WEBINAR 3:
Focus on Abstracting: Hepatobiliary Cancers

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21, 2021
2:00 PM – 4:00 PM ET

(Note: This webinar is two hours and two CEs.)

Sandra Steen, CTR, will discuss the anatomy of the liver and biliary tree, and the cancer that invades this site, mainly hepatocellular carcinoma and cholangiocarcinoma. The presentation will include attention to the liver and intrahepatic bile ducts and the extrahepatic ducts. She will address recent developments in biomarkers and imaging modalities that have enhanced early detection and accurate diagnosis of these highly fatal malignancies. Steen will discuss assigning stage to the various types of hepatobiliary tumors and review complications that may arise when abstracting these cases.

Presenter: Sandra James-Steen, CTR, is the Quality Assurance and Cancer Registry Specialist at the Mayo Clinic Hospital in Arizona.
